NOON REPORTS.

The Turkish Embroglio.

LONDON, June 17.—A Berlin dispatch says: In the conference yesterday it was manifest that the Powers are more or less prepared to accept the original French proposal. So deeply is Turkey convinced that the matter will have to be settled by war with Greece, that the armament is being vigorously pushed in Southern Albania. A military conference of leading officers was recently held at Pera, which debated the measures of resistance in case of necessity.

A Berlin dispatch says that it seems that Germany will not make proposals to the conference, but leave it to the western powers to do so, particularly France. The Turkish ambassador has informed the government that the Porte does not oppose the conference, and does not oppose the fundamental principle of M. Waddington's proposals. At Bismarck's dinner to the plenipotentiaries, Bismarck hinted that Germany regarded the French propositions favorably. Another dispatch says: at the the conference, Baron Haymerle was questioned whether Austria would undertake to carry out its decisions. He answered negatively; he said the majority favored the cession of Jamina to Greece.

Doctors in Conference.

MILWAUKIE, June 17.—An important feature in the proceedings of the American Institute of Homœopathy yesterday was the reading of a paper by Dr. Berridge, of London, England, representing the Homœopathic Society of Great Britain. It opposed the liberalism of younger members of the profession, and insisted on a return to the study of the Organon of Hahnemann, and held that such liberalism was a curse as it attempted to substitute empiricism for the principles of Hahnemann. There was some dissatisfaction on the part of the liberal members at the incorporation of Dr. Berridge's paper in the proceedings of the Institute.

Work to be Resumed.

DENVER, COL., June 17.—A Leadville dispatch says: The indications are that the strike is about to be amicably settled. The miners will hold their final meeting this morning at which Gen. Cooke and staff will be present. The Executive Committee of the Miners' Union have drawn up resolutions which they say the mine owners have accepted, and this meeting is for the purpose of submitting the resolutions to the Union.

Gov. Seymour will Accept.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The evening papers publish a dispatch from the Cincinnati Commercial's Syracuse special which says Governor Seymour has decided to accept the nomination for President if tendered, and concludes by saying, that Governor Seymour's name will be presented at Cincinnati seems certain.

Striking Miners.

LONDON, June 17.—Three thousand colliers struck at Leicester against a ten per cent. reduction.

MIDNIGHT REPORTS.

Indiana Republican Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 17.—The Republican State Convention met this morning in the Wigwam, and was called to order by Hon. John C. New, Chairman of the State Central Committee: for permanent Chairman, W. H. Calkins was chosen. The mention of Garfield's name by the President produced enthusiastic and prolonged cheering.

The resolutions adopted endorse the national platform of 1880, and commend the nominees of the Chicago Convention to the hearty support of all Republicans, and declare in favor of personal liberty and right of locomotion, including the right of foreigners to emigrate hither and become American citizens and the right of native-born citizens to emigrate from one State to another without vexation or investigation as to their motive for so doing; congratulates the people of Indiana upon the adoption of the constitutional amendments, under which by wise legislation, purity of the ballot-box and other reforms may be secured; declares the gratitude of the country to the brave men who periled their lives for the preservation of the Union is a perpetual debt and the duty of Congress to embody this sentiment in form of laws for their substantial benefit is imperative; in favor of laws for the protection of the rights of minors and laborers against corporations.

The convention proceeded with the nomination of candidates for the State ticket. On the third ballot, Hon. Albert G. Porter was nominated, receiving 637½ votes.

Boat Racing.

PROVIDENCE, June 17.—At 1:30 p. m. the crowds began moving toward the Seekonk river where the Regatta was to take place. The weather is delightful and the water will probably be favorable for a good race. The spectators will number fifty thousand.

The amateur race was won by Holmes of Pawtucket; Geisel, of New York 2nd; Hayden 3rd.

The Professional race was won by Ross. Plaisted 2nd; Boyd 3rd; time 28:50; unofficial; distance 4 miles.

Injunction Denied.

ATLANTA, June 17.—Justice Bradley yesterday in the suit of the Jessup trustee for the bondholders against Savannah, Florida & Western Railroad Commissioner on a motion to restrain perpetually the defendants from enforcing the act to regulate the freight and passenger tariffs, denied the motion. He said the interest of the bondholders was too remote. He allowed a new bill on the part of the stockholders for same object and granted a temporary injunction, set down as a case for argument September 14th.

Death of Judge Howell.

KEOKUK, Iowa, June 17.—Judge J. B. Howell, died at his residence here this morning, aged 64. In 1870 he was elected to the U. S. Senate, to succeed James W. Grimes. For some years past he was one of the commissioners of Southern claims.

Sentenced.

NEW ORLEANS, June 17th.—In the Iron Cross arson case to day a motion to arrest judgment was overruled, and Judge Whitaker sentenced Johnson to the full extent of the law—twenty years' hard labor.

Who is Your Wife?
A COMPLEX CONUNDRUM COLLOQUIALLY CONSIDERED.
BY WALDORF H. PHILLIPS.
We beg leave to announce that we have published, under the above title, a very novel and remarkable work. It is, in the form of fiction, a humorous and powerful satire on Divorce Laws and their complications. The author takes for his text a proposed new marriage ceremony, thus:—
"Do you take this woman to be your wife—until you are divorced?
"Do you take this man to be your husband—until you change your mind?
"Then, they whom I unite, let some Court put asunder."
The work is full of humor and keen satire; it is decidedly a most original and novel addition to American publications, and it is confidently believed will prove the literary sensation of the year. Price, in paper binding, 50c.; in cloth, 75c. Can be had of all Booksellers and News Dealers, or will be sent, postage paid, upon receipt of the price, by the publishers.

THE EQUITABLE
Life Assurance Society
OF THE UNITED STATES.
120 Broadway, - - - - - NEW YORK.
Risks assumed in 1879.....7,483
Policies Assuring.....$26,502,541.00

Surplus.....$7,515,407.75
HERY B. HYDE, President.
JAMES W. ALEXANDER, V. Pres't.
GEO. T. G. WHITE,
Southern Manager.
Every Policy issued by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States becomes "indisputable," after being in force for three years.
TWENTY ANNUAL PAYMENT LIFE POLICY, WITH TONTINE APPLICATION FOR TWENTY YEARS, CALLED THE TONTINE SAVINGS FUND POLICY.
ESTIMATED RESULTS
Amount, $1,000; Age, 30; Annual Payments of $30.36.
Total Premiums paid in 20 years, $607.20; Reserve on Policy in 20 years, $467.00; Accumulated Dividends in 20 years, $631.00—104 per cent.; Total cash value in 20 years, $1,098.00—180 per cent.
You pay $30.36 annually for 20 years, and in case of death prior to that period, your heirs will receive $1,000, which is certainly a very large return for the money paid. If, however, you live to the end of the 20 years, you will have two privileges, either one of which you may elect.
First—Terminate your insurance by withdrawing the total cash value of your Policy, $1,098.00, which is the amount of the reserve and accumulated dividends added together, being equivalent to returning you $180 for every $100 paid, besides your insurance of $1,000 for 20 years.
Second—Withdraw, in cash, your accumulated dividends, $631, which is 104 per cent. of the premiums paid, and besides receive a paid-up policy for $1,000, payable at death, upon which no further premium will be required, but, on the contrary, this paid-up policy will yield annual dividends.
There is no surrender or paid-up value to this policy until the expiration of the Tontine period. Thirty days' grace is allowed for the payment of premiums on this policy, but when taken, a fine or interest, at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, will be required.
It affords me great pleasure in calling the attention of my friends and the public in general to the prominent position now held by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, which I have the honor of representing. To obtain a full and perfect knowledge of the workings of this immense institution, I would respectfully refer you to the examination of the leaflet "Facts," lately published by the Society, and which is in general circulation, but I desire especially now to invite all those who have not yet insured, as well as those who are contemplating additional insurance, to examine carefully the operations of the "Tontine Savings Fund Policy," which are practically explained above. Those of my old friends I take it for granted are sufficiently satisfied that it is to their interest to carry policies of assurance, but there is a large number of young men now coming upon the stage of life who are to take our places, and who will require especially the aid offered by sound and well-conducted Life Assurance Companies in providing against death as well as mature age. To all such is this plan of assurance particularly adapted. Many of these policies which have had a shorter period to run are now maturing, and the results prove that no other plan of assurance can or ever has produced such favorable returns. Is there any young man from the age of 18 to 30 who cannot afford to lay aside every year the small sum of $30.36? This amount will secure a policy of $1,000 payable at death, and it is estimated that it will pay the same amount at the end of the twenty years. In a word, this investment obviates the necessity of a savings bank, because in case of death it accomplishes at once what would require the savings of a life-time.

The Sheriff's ham- would have rattled on the hearth s of thousands of homesteads but for relief. The people will not forget it its author.

1868 JARVIS was nominated Elector from the First District on the SEYMOUR and BLAIR ticket and made a brilliant canvass for the party.

In 1870 the people of Tyrrell showed their appreciation of their county man by re-electing him to the House of Representatives, and the Democrats having come into power at once advanced him to the highest seat of honor by choosing him Speaker of that body. He won reputation in this field and was at once recognized as a parliamentarian of a high order. So impartially and correctly did he decide the delicate and often complex questions that were constantly before that body that the leader of the Republicans pronounced him a model Speaker.

In 1872 he was named as one of the Electors for the State at Large, and served in that capacity with his usual zeal and fidelity. During this year he removed to Pitt county and resumed there the practice of his profession.

So far he had served his State well and had won the title of Honorable by such labor as few men would undertake. But greater things were before him and had to be overcome.

The organic law of the State had been framed by aliens ignorant of our domestic economy and hostile to the decency and intelligence of a large majority of our people. Under this law intolerable grievances had sprung up. Local Governments were in the hands of negroes or their overseers, white Radicals; taxes were imposed to a ruinous extent; justice was bought and sold like any staple product, and instigated by bad men, the negroes were insolent and aggressive. This anomaly in a civilized land had to be changed. The people were restive under it. A change commensurate with the evils could only be effected by a convention. The calling of a convention was, however, regarded as a hazardous measure, and a clear, strong mind, and firm will—firm by nature, or made so by the discipline of life—were needed to measure the hazard accurately. JARVIS espoused the convention cause warmly. He was nominated by acclamation to represent his adopted county, Pitt, and was chosen by a large majority. To him more than to any living man we owe the enjoyment of our rights under the new Constitution. He organized that body by securing the election of a Democrat to preside over its deliberations. In all its proceedings he was a counsellor, an actor and a controlling spirit.

Nominated for Lieutenant-Governor in 1876, he traversed the State and won golden opinions from all sorts of people by simple, strong, and truly eloquent speeches, convincing and making earnest the people who gave him amongst the largest majorities cast for any Democratic candidate voted for by the whole people. The presidency of the Senate matured his reputation for high Parliamentary ability. Upon the elevation of Governor VANCE to the United States Senate, in January, 1879, he succeeded to the office of Governor, and has discharged its responsible, grave and delicate duties with signal satisfaction to the people regardless of political bias.

He has succeeded beyond the ambition of most men, and his success, in great measure, has been wrought out by doing well whatever he had to do. He has been severely cautious in the use of that dangerous power, the power of pardoning, and has devoted an immense amount of labor to mastering even the dullest details of his office. The most prominent feature of his administration is the calling of the extra session of the Legislature of the State and the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad to New York capitalists. This railroad matter is so recent, and so familiar in all its details, that it is unnecessary to do more than refer to it. All that demands attention now is the sagacity, firmness and boldness with which the matter was managed. This question a short time ago hung over our party like a black cloud big with ruin. It threatened destruction not only to the party, but to any one who meddled with the combustible elements with which it was freighted. To meddle with it at all was what no mere politician would do; for with all such the science of politics is the science of self-advancement. It was just such a thing as a statesman would do; for a statesman has no thought of self; he lives and labors for his country. With a heroism as daring as it was quiet, JARVIS grasped this formidable question, and under his skillful handling it became as harmless as the thunder cloud when its fiery fluid has been drawn off by the potent conductor. It was a a perilous feat, and nobly achieved; but if it had miscarried, he would have sunk, for a time at least, like a plummet of lead in the water.

More than three years ago, on January 1, 1877, when Governor JARVIS was inaugurated as Lieutenant-Governor, we stated our conviction that the Democratic party had higher honors in store for him than those with which he was that day clothed. Yesterday's magnificent triumph has verified that expression of our belief. Singularly well poised in character, of unsullied worth, with a great capacity for controlling men, a believer and practicer of thorough organization and discipline, Governor JARVIS is the man for the times and the conditions of politics, and will lead the Democratic party to its most brilliant victory.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR—J. L. ROBINSON.

JAMES LOWRIE ROBINSON was born in Franklin, Macon county, September 17th, 1838. His father, JAMES ROBINSON, came to North Carolina from Tennessee, was a merchant of note and character, and died in the village that was the birth place of his son, in June, 1843. His early training was only what the common schools of his county and the village academy afforded, and a year at Emory and Henry College was added to his education by his own hard-earned wages and the kind assistance of a friend and relative.

When armed men sprang up in every hamlet of North Carolina at the call of her authorities, he volunteered as a private foot soldier in Company H, 16th N. C. Troops, and became Quarter-Master Sergeant in the same regiment. At the re-organization he was elected captain of the company of which he was a soldier and its triumphs became a part of his history. Wounded at the Battle of Seven Pines, he led his men over the fields of Manassas when it was baptized with blood a second time. Participating in the engagement at Chantilly Farm, he was present at the terrible struggle that decided the Maryland campaign at Sharpsburg.

When he had laid aside his sword and returned to peaceful vocations, his people recognized in him the deliberate courage and solid qualities of mind that are valuable in civil employments, and chose him to be their Commoner in 1868. He was returned without opposition in 1870. No mark of confidence could have bestowed greater honor upon him. He had been one of a bold and true minority that had withstood the seductions of a reckless and extravagant administration, and had rendered success for the Democracy possible. When chosen a representative in 1872, he was almost by common consent elevated to the highest honor of the body of which he was a member, and when the Speaker's baton was again tendered him in 1874, it came as a palm of merit that he had no right to put aside.

The retribution in the history of North Carolina came in 1876. The ruins were restored. The counties bearing names conspicuously North Carolinian, and composing his Senatorial District, called him to serve them in the Upper Chamber of the State's councils. He came without opposition, and was chosen President of that distinguished body. Long experience and great familiarity with the duties of a presiding officer over a deliberative body made it eminently fit that he be chosen to fill this high position. His conduct of the business of the Senate, from the assembling of the Legislature until the qualification of Lieutenant Governor JARVIS, added to his growing reputation as a legislator and parliamentarian. No man ever had more loyal constituents, and no people ever had a more faithful servant. His Senatorial services were endorsed by a re-election unsought, and to which no opposition was offered.

His nomination for the second place in the State is a natural result of unselfish services done his people, of devotion to the tenets of his political professions, and of the determination of North Carolinians to call to command men who have been faithful in the ranks. In the flush of a strong manhood, under his honors and delicate duties, he will be found modest and simple. A worthy Lieutenant stands ready to command.

SECRETARY OF STATE—W. L. SAUNDERS.

Upon the nomination of MAJ. MCCLAMMY, of Pender, most handsomely seconded by MR. VAUGHAN, of Alleghany who spoke in behalf of DR. YORK, whose name had been widely mentioned in connection with the same office, the convention nominated for the office of Secretary of State, by acclamation,

WILLIAM LAURENCE SAUNDERS.

Col. SAUNDERS'S name is a familiar sound in the ears of North Carolinians. He was born in Raleigh on July 30th, 1835, graduated in June, 1854, at the University of North Carolina, studied law under the lamented BATTLE, and was admitted to practice in the different courts during the years 1856 and 1857. In the Fall of 1857 he removed to Salisbury, where he remained until the outbreak of the war. He volunteered in April, 1861, as a private in the Rowan Rifle Guard, but, in June, was made Lieutenant in "REILLEY'S battery" and went directly to Virginia. In 1862, he was appointed a captain of infantry, raised a company in Salisbury, and joined the 46th N. C. T. The regiment afterwards became a part of Walker's Brigade, afterwards Cooke's Brigade, and participated in many of the severest battles of the war; Col. Saunders becoming by successive promotions Major, Lieutenant Colonel and Colonel. He was twice wounded, once very badly, and was with Gen. Lee at the surrender. He, too, "comes from Appomattox."

He was married in 1864 to Miss Florida C. Cotten, who died in 1865, and he has since remained a widower.

In 1870 and 1872, Col. SAUNDERS was Secretary of the Senate, and made a most admirable officer, his familiarity with parliamentary law being of especial service. As a trustee of the University, and the Secretary of the Board, he has devoted much time and labor to the revival and upbuilding of the higher educational interests of the State. But his chief work in North Carolina has been in the profession of journalism. In 1872 he became one of the editors of the Wilmington Journal, and his whole talents, as those also of MAJ. ENGELHARD, his brother-in-law, were exerted in behalf of the Democratic party in the State. Among other great services, he was largely instrumental in the defeat of RUSSELL, in 1874; in the success of the convention movement of 1875, and gave most valuable aid in the campaign of 1876. In November, 1876, he moved to Raleigh, and together with the present editor of THE NEWS, established The Observer.

Faithfully he continued his work until January 1879, when, at the suggestion of his physician, he abandoned journalism. The sad death of Maj. ENGELHARD left the position of Secretary of State vacant in February 1879, and Gov. JARVIS tendered the position to Col. SAUNDERS. Since then he has continued to be an honest public servant, administering his office carefully and well.

It is useless to recapitulate his public services in connection with the sale of the W. N. C. R. R., for they are fresh in the minds of our readers. He is a worthy associate of his colleagues upon the ticket, and his nomination is a compliment to the guild of journalists. The office is one especially suited to him. His large brain, well-furnished mind, extraordinary knowledge of the men and measures of the State, both past and present, and his peculiar aptitude in judging of the character of men, will make him a trusty councillor of the State and a loyal coadjutor of the Governor.

AUDITOR—W. P. ROBERTS.

General W. P. Roberts, the nominee for Auditor, is the youngest man on the ticket, but his merit has always placed him higher in rank than in years. He was born in Gates county on the 11th day of July, 1840. This county is worthy to have produced such a man, for in 1864, when surrounded by the Federal armies and infested with "buffaloes," it gave a unanimous vote for North Carolina's great war Governor, Vance. A youth passed among men to whom such action was possible had the effect of making General ROBERTS a man in character while still a boy in years. At the age of 19 he entered the Confederate army as sergeant in the 2nd Cavalry. His record as a soldier is written in characters of blood and fire on the battle-fields which made the name of the Southern soldier a synonym for heroism throughout the limits of civilization. In his first battle he won promotion to the rank of Lieutenant. In this rank he remained two years, gaining compliments for his conspicuous gallantry on every battle-field, until on the smoke-crowned summit of Cemetery Hill he rode in the front of battle to still higher promotion. From this time his promotion was most rapid. He was a Lieutenant six months, Captain three months, Major three months, Colonel three months, and in 1865 he became Brigadier-General. The youngest general officer in LEE'S army and probably the youngest in the history of the world, who won his rank by hard fighting on stricken fields. This would seem a record glorious enough for any man, but Gen. ROBERTS adds to it the proud distinction of having been presented by the great chieftain with his own gauntlets as a mark of Gen. LEE'S personal recognition of the young hero's distinguished gallantry.

The services of Gen. ROBERTS have been no less great in peace than in war. An Eastern Carolinian, he had personal knowledge of the evils of negro rule. It was not in the nature of a man born and reared in Gates quietly to submit. With the same courage and energy that had marked his former life he addressed himself to the task of removing the incubus from his people. His labors were crowned with success when the convention of 1875 met and by the efforts of the delegate from Gates, efforts which his personal influence and his peculiar relations to the gentleman who became President of the convention rendered him almost alone able to make, a Democratic organization was effected. Then the county government system was reformed and the task to which Gen. ROBERTS had devoted the work of eight years was complete. Gen ROBERTS was returned a member of the General Assembly at the session of 1876–'77, but he sought no personal promotion and since that time he has worked in the ranks. His nomination for Auditor yesterday was a complement of the excellent work done by the convention in the other nominations made by that body. His record in the past is a guarantee for the future. He has never been in the rear when work was to be done. The other gentlemen on the ticket must not let a moment pass unimproved, lest when the roll of merit is made up at the end of the campaign the verdict will be that the greatest and most efficient service has been done by the young soldier from the "State of Gates."

TREASURER—J. M. WORTH.

Dr. JOHN MILTON WORTH, son of DAVID and EUNICE WORTH, was born in Guilford county on the 28th June, 1811, and has spent his life in Guilford, Montgomery and Randolph counties. He was early called into political life. Three times did he represent the Senatorial district composed of Moore and Montgomery counties; twice that composed of Randolph and Montgomery, and twice that composed of Randolph and Moore counties. Dr. WORTH has never been an office seeker in any sense of the word, either before nominating conventions or before the people. When he has gone before the people, it has been to comply with the demands of others, and to aid in accomplishing the success of the party, whose principles he advocated, rather than from any consideration personal to himself. In the Convention of 1876, as on yesterday, he was nominated for the position he now holds by acclamation. Indeed, from one end of the State to the other there seemed to be then as now but one opinion, and that was, that Dr. Worth was to be Treasurer. The action of the Convention then as now did but put in formal shape what the public mind had long before settled down upon.

In sober staid North Carolina, so little given to quick confidences, no man whose life had not displayed in rare degree, both financial ability and personal integrity, could have been thus chosen to take charge of the financial affairs of the State in a time of so much difficulty and embarrassment. When appointed by Governor Brogden to fill Mr. Jenkins' unexpired time he came to Raleigh, and, as was said, in ten minutes after his arrival, found sureties on his bond for $250,000, although he had never been a citizen of the place. And though by no means a man of large wealth, he doubtless could have done the same thing in any leading town in the State.

With all his powers, both physical and mental, still vigorous and unimpaired, the result of a lifetime of moderation and sobriety, the days of his usefulness to his State, and of honor to himself, are by no means numbered. If ever there was a right man in the right place, that man is Dr. JOHN M. WORTH, in the Treasurer's office. Honest, able, fearless, and devoted to her interests, JOHN MILTON WORTH is a son of whom North Carolina may well be proud; a good man and true, whose word is as good as his bond, and whose bond is as good as gold. Long may he live to serve the State he loves so well.

Dr. WORTH desires the epitaph to be inscribed above his last resting place, (and both he and the people hope it will be many years before that epitaph is written), that he caused to be effected the satisfactory compromise and settlement of the State Debt. For the first time since the Radical riot of 1869, a North Carolina bond was caused to have some real value in the stock markets of the world during his administration.

SUPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

JOHN C. SCARBOROUGH, son of SAMUEL and CYNTHIA SCARBOROUGH, was born in Wake county on the 22nd of Sept., 1841. His school days were spent in the common schools and district schools of his county. The war coming on he early entered the military service of the State, where he served first as a sergeant in the 4th Regiment N. C. Volunteers, and afterwards in the 1st Regiment N. C. State Troops. His service there was faithful and continuous. Like so many others, Mr. SCARBOROUGH found himself entirely dependent on his own exertions after the war closed, and without the help of an education to enable him to push forward in life. This defect he proceeded to repair at once, and accordingly in 1866 went to Wake Forest College where he remained until June, 1869, when he graduated. He was no less faithful and true as a student than he had been brave and gallant as a soldier.

Mr. SCARBOROUGH is eminently a self-made man in the truest, best and most literal sense of that much abused term, for he owes his success in life to his own exertions. His latest triumph, we trust and believe, is but the door to others that shall make his name a household word in North Carolina, remembered with grateful emotions for generations to come. To his hands have been committed the educational interests of more than a million of people. From him legislation intended to afford the best facilities in our reach for the education of the rising generations will take shape and direction. The responsibility is a great one—one that needs to bring to its proper discharge vigor both of mind and body. Both of these admirable qualities Mr. SCARBOROUGH possesses, together with a strong will, energy, industry, great individuality of character and the true courage of his opinions. May GOD speed him in the great undertaking that lies before him.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL—THOS. S. KENAN.

COLONEL THOMAS S. KENAN was born on the 17th of February, 1838, near Kenansville, in Duplin county, and is a son of Hon. OWEN R. KENAN. His mother was a daughter of Dr. STEPHEN GRAHAM, also of Duplin. After going through the usual preparatory course of study at Grove Academy, near Kenansville, then under charge of Rev. JAMES M. SPRUNT, he went to Wake Forest, and thence to Chapel Hill, where he was graduated in 1857. His legal education was received at Judge PEARSON'S school, receiving his County Court license in December, 1858, and his Supreme Court license in December, 1859. He immediately commenced the practice of the law in Kenansville, and continued there until April, 1861, when he entered the military service of the State as Captain of the Duplin Rifles. In March, 1862, he was elected Colonel of the 43d Regiment, North Carolina Troops. He commanded his regiment until the 4th of July, 1863, at Gettysburg, where he was wounded, and being captured on the retreat, he was sent to JOHNSON'S Island, and there confined as a prisoner of war until March, 1865, when he was exchanged and returned home. He was a member of the Legislature from Duplin during the sessions of 1865–'66, and 1866–'67. In 1868 he was a candidate for Congress in the Cape Fear District, but the District was then hopelessly Radical, and he made the canvass of it with no other hope than to rally the party and inspire it with confidence for future contests. In the same year he married Miss SALLIE DORTCH, daughter of the late Dr. LOUIS DORTCH, of Edgecombe county. In June, 1869, he moved to Wilson, where he has since resided and practiced law. In 1876 he was elected Attorney-General of the State.

Attorney-General KENAN well deserves the handsome recognition of his labors in his office bestowed by the Convention. His work has chiefly been shown in the last seven volumes of the North Carolina Reports. It is not too much to say that in the arrangement of the cases, the method of reporting, the care in the proof-reading, and all that goes to make up a good law-book, the volumes are, taken together, the best of the North Carolina Reports—certainly by far the best since 1868.

A GRAND RATIFICATION SPEECH.

At dusk Judge FOWLE appeared in the square and delighted the assembled multitude with a grand speech of ratification. As nearly as his words could be caught, he said:—

People of North Carolina:—

I address you as the people of North Carolina because here assembled under the name of the great Democratic party are the true representatives of the virtue, intelligence and industry of our grand old mother State.

I appear before you at your invitation, a defeated candidate for the nomination for the highest office within your gift, and yet I am proud of the four hundred and sixty votes which you have been pleased to cast for me this day. And of these four hundred and sixty I have a request to make: unite with me in consolidating the Democratic forces and electing Thos. J. Jarvis our next Governor. To my friends throughout North Carolina I appeal in behalf of Democratic unity, for if this can be effected Thos. J. Jarvis will be elected our next Governor by twenty-five thousand majority.

For myself, since 1867, I have been a candidate for no nomination but this. And because you have not seen fit to give it to me, my zeal for the success of our common cause shall in no respect abate.

My friends, since 1865, the States South of Mason & Dixon's line, have been the true defenders of that constitutional liberty which was the grand bequest to us of our forefathers.

In my heart of hearts I believe that our cause is the cause of our country.

The success of our party means not alone the preservation of our liberties, but as well the liberties of the States beyond the Potomac.

Let us be true to our trust. Mere personal feeling or petty disappointment sinks into utter insignificance compared with the tremendous results dependent upon our harmony. This country must be pacified. It can only be done by the success of the true constitutional party of the country. That is the Democratic party. Let us therefore be united and work together to attain this end.

In our glorious country we have one object, around which our affections may in common cluster. In the North it is called the Union. In the South the constitution. But it is one and the same, for the union is the constitution, and the constitution is the union.

The Constitution and the Union! When I hear these words my mind's eye turns to Virginia, the mother of States and of statesmen, and as I gaze I see a noble river and on its banks a tomb, and on its surface a steamer, and as she passes, once—twice—thrice, tolls her bell in honor of George Washington, the father of the Union.

And again I gaze and in the dim distance I see a mountain, and as I approach, upon the green slopes of Monticello I see another tomb, and upon it is inscribed Thomas Jefferson, the father of the Constitution.

God bless George Washington's Union.

God bless Thomas Jefferson's Constitution.

God bless the Democratic party their defender.

Democratic State Convention.

At 1 o'clock p. m., Thursday, June 17th, in Capitol square, Capt. S. A. Ashe, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, called the Democratic State Convention to order, and named Hon. James Edwin Moore, of Martin, temporary chairman, and Messrs. H. A. London, of Chatham, and P. M. Wilson, of Wake, temporary Secretaries.

Mr. Moore, on assuming the chair, addressed the convention as follows:

Democrats of North Carolina:

I thank you for the honor conferred upon me by calling me to preside over the temporary organization of this convention. I trust that the most perfect harmony will prevail, and that every delegate will feel it incumbent upon himself to see that good order is maintained. The convention is now ready to proceed to business.

R. M. Furman, of Buncombe, moved that one from each Congressional District delegation be appointed a committee on credentials, and that the chairmen of the delegations report the committeemen.

T. C. Fuller, of Wake, moved an amendment that the chairman of this convention appoint eight delegates to constitute a committee on credentials, and called for a vote by counties on his amendment.

Ham C. Jones, of Mecklenburg, said that this was a Democratic convention, and not an adjourned meeting of the Chicago convention. He asserted that the amendment of Mr. Fuller was a direct violation of the plan of Democratic organization in North Carolina, and moved as a substitute that the committees on credentials and permanent organization be reported by the chairmen of the District delegations.

E. Jones, of Caldwell, moved that the rules of the House of Representatives be adopted as the rules to govern this convention; the motion did not prevail.

D. K. McRae, of New Hanover, suggested that the several delegations hand in the list of their delegates to the chairman, and all would be satisfactory unless there should be a contest.

T. H. Skinner, of Perquimans, thought Mr. McRae's plan utterly impracticable.

T. C. Fuller, of Wake, said in proposing his amendment he did it because he thought it would advance the work of the convention. He said there were contests in several counties as to delegates, also that there were contests over the divisions of votes as to be cast by some of the delegates.

Ham. C. Jones, of Mecklenburg, asked who was authority as to Democratic usages in North Carolina? He thought the Democratic State Central Executive Committee was that authority, and read a resolution adopted by that committee in regard to the point at issue which supported his views.

Mr. Snow, of Wake, interrupted Mr. Jones, and stated that he was a member of the Central Committee and endeavored to explain the resolution.

Mr. Jones resumed, saying that he had never known in the Democratic party of North Carolina that a temporary chairman should appoint a committee. It was the business of the convention, and he insisted on the motion made by Mr. Furman of Buncombe.

Mr. Snow replied, stating that he was a Democrat, had never cast anything but a Democratic vote, and would scorn to do or say anything calculated to be construed into opposition to the interest of the Democratic party.

Mr. Fuller called for a vote on his amendment demanding that the vote be taken by counties.

The secretary began the call of the roll, and when Cumberland was reached Mr. Fuller withdrew his amendment.

The motion of Mr. Furman was then put and carried without a dissenting voice.

A motion to adjourn was made but failed.

On motion the call of Congressional Districts was had and the chairmen of the District delegations named the following committees:

Credentials—J. A. Sugg, Hugh Murray, C. W. Broadfoot, A. M. Noble, D. M. Little, S. M. Finger, John S. Henderson and J. M. Gudger.

Second District—A. J. Galloway, R. B. Peebles, Benjamin Askew, and Henry R. Bryan.

Third District—Appleton Oaksmith, Isaac B. Kelly, H. B. Short, Jr., and D. H. McLean.

Seventh District—R. Z. Linney, W. B. Glenn, J. C. Wilborn and G. A. Bingham.

Eighth District—Kope Elias, R. M. Furman, B. F. Logan and A. M. Erwin.

The several committees retired for consultation.

At this juncture another motion to adjourn was defeated.

On motion the call of counties was had to ascertain if all were represented and if there were any contesting. The result being all reported representation with contest only in Northampton.

Another motion to adjourn to Metropolitan Hall was made but subsequently withdrawn.

While awaiting the report of Committee on Permanent Organization the crowd called zealously for several orators.

On motion of George H. Snow, Hon. W. M. Robbins was requested to address the meeting, and when Mr. Robbins took his place upon the platform deafening cheers greeted him.

Hon. M. McGehee, Chairman of the Committee on Permanent Organization, submitted the following report:

For Permanent President of this Convention, Hon. John W. Graham; For Vice-Presidents: First District, S. B. Spruill; Second District, C. J. Mattocks; Third District, J. C. McRae; Fourth District, T. B. Venable; Fifth District, Geo. Williamson; Sixth District, W. L. Steele; Seventh District, H. W. Fries; Eighth District, Johnstone Jones. H. A. London and R. M. Furman were made permanent Secretaries, and Capt. Swift Galloway, A. L. Blow and P. M. Wilson, Assistant Secretaries.

C. E. Parrish moved that the thanks of the convention be tendered to the temporary officers. He put the question and a roar of ayes followed. He then announced that the noes had no vote.

The chair appointed Messrs. McGehee and Snow to conduct the chairman to his seat.

Mr. Graham, upon taking the chair, said:—

Gentlemen of the Convention:

I thank you sincerely for the honor of this position, and shall endeavor to fulfil your expectations in the discharge of its duties. We have met to promote the success of the Democratic party, and to select those who in our State contest shall carry the banner, upon which is inscribed the name and principles of that time-honored organization. When we remember, that in the great national campaign in which we are soon to engage, we oppose a party who have put forward for the chief offices of the nation, one who has basely pandered to sectional hate, and who, as a member of the electoral commission, reversed and annulled the verdict of the American people in the last contest, depriving the majority of the well earned result of a great struggle, it behooves us that there shall be no discord in the ranks, but recalling the glorious memories of the past will go forward with steady step and unfaltering tread to reap the greater rewards of the future. May we not hope, that with another victory, we shall enjoy the blessing of States restored to their rightful privileges in the Union, a sound currency, a tariff while yielding a proper revenue not oppressive in its character, and a nation once again to become solid in its love for the Constitution, and for those principles under which our government was conducted in its best days. The large delegations present show how deep an interest is felt by our people in having suitable nominations made here; and it was natural that the strong qualities of those who have been suggested, should have procured them ardent and devoted adherents, who zealously and earnestly pressed their claims. Success cannot always be realized though strongly desired. The heroic endurance of adverse fortune has often extorted an admiration, which but waited the opportunity to crown him who has bravely endured, with a greater prize than the one which escaped his grasp. That royal motto, which should be in the heart of a patriot, "I serve" is as well illustrated in the calm and manly acquiesence in defeat, as in the discharge of those duties and responsibilities which a successful contest for office may bring. I trust that your deliberations may be characterized by harmony and a due regard for the rights of all. For myself I bespeak your cordial co-operation in having the proceedings of the convention conducted "decently and in order," and the exercise of that courtesy and good sense which has always characterized the people of North Carolina. My only desire shall be that your will be fairly and correctly expressed. May He who rules above, so guide you that your action may prove a lasting benefit to our State, and tend to bring peace and good will to our whole country.

On motion, the convention proceeded to elect four delegates to the National Democratic Convention.

Mr. Brown, of Beaufort, placed in nomination the name of Thomas Ruffin, of Orange.

Captain Natt Atkinson, of Buncombe, named Hon. T. L. Clingman.

Capt. C. M. Cooke, of Franklin, raised an objection to the election of delegates to the National Convention before having first settled the great question, who shall be our candidate for Governor.

A motion was made to postpone the selection of delegates till after the nomination.

A motion was made to reconsider the vote deciding to elect delegates first, and a motion was then made to table the motion to reconsider.

On the motion to table a call of the counties was had, resulting in refusing to lay on the table.

The chair then announced that the selection of delegates was postponed and that the Convention would proceed to the nominations.

A. M. Noble, of Johnston, chairman of the Committee on Credentials, submitted the following report: The Committee on Credentials report that no business had been brought before it; all the counties were properly represented. The only contest, the one which had been reported from Northampton county, had been satisfactorily adjusted. The report was adopted.

The nomination of Hon. John A. Gilmer for Judge of the Fifth Judicial District was ratified by the State Convention, by acclamation.

Jarvis unanimous.

Ham. C. Jones moved three cheers for Daniel G. Fowle, saying whenever his name shall be assailed in North Carolina the Democracy will defend him.

Governor Jarvis was taken from his office and crowded through the vast crowd to the President's stand and hoisted upon the table, when the President declared Thomas J. Jarvis the nominee of the Democratic party for Governor and introduced him to the convention.

His speech was an able effort, full of strong thought and deep feeling. The hearing of it compensated the delegates who had voted for other gentlemen for the defeat of their favorites, and its utterance did equal honor to the head and heart of its author.

Judge Fowle was loudly called for, and not being on the ground a committee was appointed to invite him to address the convention to-night.

It was impossible under the circumstances to do more than catch the merest outline of the speeches made and we have preferred only to state the names of the gentlemen by whom speeches nominating the various candidates were made, rather than spoil such really fine efforts of oratory by a necessarily imperfect report. We did get the speech of Mr. Means, putting Dr. Worth in nomination, in full and while not so flowery as some it brought down the house.

We are requested to announce that the District Executive Committees will meet the chairman of the State Convention in the Senate Chamber this morning at 10 o'clock.

GUILFORD ITEMS:—

Greensboro, June 16.—The weather today is really cold, fires and overcoats are in demand, such a thing is rarely seen at this season of the year.

Trade is quite dull just now. Farmers are very busy, making marketing scarce and high.

Last night closed the scholastic year of the colored graded school with a public exhibition at Benbow Hall, when the hall was packed, all standing and sitting room. As usual on such occasions many of the little fellows showed much sign of advancement, and many of the children spoke with much of the freedom of an orator. The school has been a large one this year.

Our people are greatly rejoiced at the nomination of Col. J. A. Gilmer for Judge from this district. Short of this they could not have been pleased, and now comes the tug between prominent candidates for Governor to-morrow, and great anxiety is manifested and a large number of delegates have gone and will go down to be at Raleight to-morrow.

The wife of W. B. Bogart one of our merchants, died on Sunday. She was a refugee from Newberne, in 61 or 62 where her parents now reside. She was a Fulford.

Pender County Notes.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.]

BURGAW, N. C., June 16, 1880.

Pender Superior Court is in session this week, Judge Avery presiding. His charge to the grand jury on Monday was concise, plain and to the point. By his promptness, firmness and business-like management he is producing, as is customary in his rounds, a very fine impression on the people of this county. As to our worthy solicitor—Galloway—no one can help admiring his assiduity and stentorian voice. The criminal docket is a long one, but the Judge is hurrying through with it. There are two capital cases on the docket, both for rape. The enormity to which this atrocious crime is reaching in our civilized land is simply heart-sickening and a shame on any Christian nation. A man capable of such a heinous felony should be dealt with with the most rigid severity. The legal fraternity is better represented than for several preceding courts. It is rumored that the court will adjourn this evening for the State Convention, as many members of the bar, plaintiffs and defendants are delegates.

We are happy to note the rapid growth of this little town within the last two years. In the latter part of 1877, when the county site was moved from South Washington to this place, there were only one or two places of business and three or four dwellings in the place, but now Burgaw can boast of some six or eight stores, about thirty residences, a hotel, church, academy, livery stables, &c., and she is growing every day.

Whooping cough, bilious diarrhœa and dysentery are very prevalent and violent among the children of this place and vicinity. Two have died within the last ten days.

For the past several days the weather has been exceedingly sultry and warm, the average height of the thermometer being 95°, but a nice shower yesterday afternoon has moderated the temperature greatly and this morning is very pleasant.

Notwithstanding the deplorable drought, the fine rains of the last week have revived dying vegetation, and our farmers are once more hopeful. Excepting some cotton and corn which did not come up during the drought, the prospects for a splendid crop are good.

Although this county was solid for Stedman for Congress, yet the nomination of Shackelford, at Fayetteville, meets with the favor and approval of Pender Democrats. They will unite heart and hand to elect this learned lawyer, splendid legislator, and honored son of Onslow, who, when elected, will make an excellent representative and worthy successor of Col. Waddell.

We had the pleasure of meeting Major Young, the patient and assiduous projector and espouser of the great Duplin Canal. He informed your correspondent that the work of sluicing is progressing finely. He has at present from fifteen to thirty hands employed on his work and is sanguine of the success of his grand enterprise. Our people should give him every encouragement and assistance in their power.

Fifth Congressional District.

Counties composing the Fifth Congressional District, met in convention at Metropolitan Hall, June 17th, at 10 o'clock a. m. James Holeman, of Person, and Geo. Williamson, of Caswell, presided over the meeting. W. W. Steiner was appointed Secretary. All the counties in the District were represented.

Jacob A. Long, of Caswell, and John N. Staples, of Guilford, were elected delegates to the National Democratic Convention, and S. H. Webb, of Alamance, and Thos. W. McCrary, of Caswell, alternates.

The following were recommended to the State Convention, as members of the different committees:

On Credentials—David Settle.

On Permanent Organization—Montford McGehee.

On Platform, &c.—Col. McAllister.

For members of the State and Executive Committee—A. E. Henderson, Chairman, of Caswell; David S. Reid, of Rockingham; M. S. Robbins, of Randolph; C. F. Lowe, of Davidson.

The convention then adjourned.

WILL. N. STEINER, Secretary.

An English (Not British) Boom.

[Special to the Richmond Dispatch, 17th.]

WASHINGTON, June 16.—I heard a discussion to-day between a distinguished Northern Congressman and a well-known Confederate Brigadier on the Democratic presidential situation which impressed me more than any of the many similar talks I have yet heard at the Capitol. The former said, "There is one thing certain, and that is that the people of the North will not vote for a man for President who has not a perfectly clear war record. Just as you would rather vote for Blaine, ultra Radical as he is, in preference to what you term a Union sympathizer, or a scalawag, so our people had rather vote for General Gordon than for what we termed a copperhead. As long as the war and the Union could be made an issue, the Republicans could put on the stump ten thousand orators to excite the people, who as soon as finance, &c., became the issues had to retire, because they were incapable of discussing such questions. Nominate at Cincinnati a man against whom a sectional fight can be waged, and forthwith these ten thousand come from their retirement, and from every hustings will inflame the northern masses by appealing to their sectional prejudices." The Confederate could not gainsay this, but asked who ought to be nominated at Cincinnati. The congressman thereupon went over the whole ground with a clearness that was remarkable—taking the candidates one by one and giving their strong and their weak points. When an Ohio man was named he said the Democratic party cannot afford to fight the Republicans on the ground they have selected, for if they do Ohio will go Republican in October and demoralize Democrats all over the country. On the other hand if they ignore, Ohio and make no show of fight there it loses its political significance if it goes Republican at the State election.

ENGLISH AND ENGLISH OR ENGLISH AND M'DONALD.

Finally he said: "In my judgment, if the Convention is wise it will nominate ex-Governor English, of Connecticut, because he is not only a Democrat and man of the highest personal character, but he was in the House during the war, and voted for every solitary war measure that Blaine & Co., voted for, including the thirteenth amendment, the abolition of slavery in the District, &c. He is not only popular in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut, but he has extensive business connections in New York, and is recognized there as a business-man of the highest character and judgment. He is, moreover, a millionaire, and made every dollar of his money honorably. Then," said he, "they can put on the ticket English, of Indiana, and make it English and English, or they can take McDonald, and make it even stronger. This would be an almost invincible ticket, because it would secure Connecticut and Indiana and carry New Jersey and New York." Here the party broke up. It is more important now that the strongest possible ticket should be nominated, because I hear from a good source that the Republicans of New York intend to have and change the law so as to elect Presidential electors by districts. This will divide the State and compel the Democrats to look for votes in Connecticut.

Davidson Commencement.

[From the Charlotte Observer, 17th.]

The exercises properly began Sunday when the baccalaureate sermon was delivered in the old chapel by Rev. Dr. Hepburn, the president, and the annual sermon before the Williams Association Sunday night, by Rev. S. Taylor Martin, of Hendersonville, N. C.

Following this was the meeting of the two literary societies Tuesday night, held with closed doors, that is to say, only the old members and honorary members being admitted to the elegant halls. These occasions are always especially enjoyable, being a sort of reunion of the old members under auspices which recall the pleasantest events of college days. The meetings this year were well attended and the exercises of unusual interest.

The attendance yesterday morning was somewhat smaller than usual on the first day, due in a measure, no doubt, to a growing tendency with visitors to postpone their coming to the second day, or commencement day proper. But the hurrying to and fro of the students and the strains of martial music lent an air of life and activity to the old campus and quiet streets which are seen only once a year.

Rev. Dr. W. E. Boggs, of Atlanta, Ga., the orator selected to deliver the address before the literary societies, was escorted to the chapel by the students, and spoke for nearly two hours, to a delighted audience. He discussed the triumphs of the Christian religion, showing that it was not in conflict with science, while it had been frequently attacked by scientific men. The address was able and learned, and delivered with marked effect. A full report will be given to-morrow.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. W. S. Lacy was to have delivered the annual address before the members of the Alumni association, and 7 o'clock was the hour fixed for the orations of the representatives of the Eumenean and Philanthropic societies. This occasion has been rendered doubly interesting in recent years by the fact that the orator's medal is awarded on the test to which the representatives are then subjected, by a committee selected by the faculty.

A very large crowd is expected to attend the graduating exercises to-day.

SENATOR THURMAN, according to a Cincinnati dispatch, has telegraphed to the members of the Ohio delegation to the Cincinnati convention to meet him in Columbus to-night. This is coupled with a rumor that Senator THURMAN intends to withdraw as a candidate for the Presidency.

Cash buyers and men of experience always buy the Talbott Machinery, because it is the Best and Cheapest, and always gives satisfaction.

TAKE FAIR WARNING IN TIME,

And don't be deceived with cheap, inferior, misrepresented horse-powers, fancy painted machinery, and the glib arguments of Agents, (they are paid for it,) but buy from manufacturers of known integrity, responsibility and practical mechanical experience.

Talbott's Great Southern Engine

Has stood the severest tests for forty-one years, and no man of experience or responsibility has ever, or can say one word against them.

We handle all kinds of Machinery from best known manufacturers. Send to me for price list and descriptive catalogue before buying elsewhere, and save TIME, MONEY and TROUBLE.

Every delicacy of the season can always be found on the bill of fare, and Wines and Liquors of the best quality will be furnished from my old establishment on the opposite corner.

The Dining Rooms are on the European plan—"call for what you want and pay for what you get." I have in the same building, for the convenience of the travelling public, fitted up several large and commodious rooms with the best of beds, latest improved mattrasses, and everything in a style equal to the best hotel in the country.
